

DEMONS CAN'T BE DIFFERENTIATED !Shefali Garg¹

Religion does not promote terrorism. It is the person's own will to enter into bad work i.e. terrorism and harm the society. We the people always points out a particular religion even when no person from that religion is involved in that terrorist activity. We the people has set our minds that if any crime is happening then that crime is must be performed by that particular religion. We do not recognize the individual but his religion and then assume that every person of his religion is a terrorist or some type of a demon. Religion never ask his followers to commit crime, it's the choice of individuals themselves. Every religion speaks of peace, harmony, love, respect and brotherhood. Nobody promotes killings. Therefore, terrorism has no religion. Humans becomes demons when they are forced to become or perform some bad activity, therefore no demon can be identified on the basis of their religion nether they can be discriminated upon their appearance. Therefore we have to stop comparing the religion and judging any particular religion as it somewhere and somehow force the blamed religion to perform bad activities even they are so pure-hearted. We always blame Muslims whenever it comes to the terrorism. But we are wrong as not every Muslim is a terrorist. Even if I talk about my personal contacts, I have a many Muslim friends and they are amazing by nature and activities. There are terrorist who are even Hindus and Christians. People engaged in these terrorist activities are just dummies of some dangerous leader who is influenced by some danger attacks in his past. He made targets of innocent people and influence them to perform terrorist activities. There was a time when Christians used to perform terrorist activities in the name of their religion but now they are as pure as white. Therefore it is not the religion which perform terrorism, it is the individual person of some of the different religion who becomes terrorist and therefore these persons should be identified from their activities not by their religion. We should respect each and every religion and should maintain brotherhood with every person. Terrorism base is poverty or lack of facilities. We should force government to provide employment opportunities to every lower area so that no person will risk a life of other person just to earn some bugs. There are people who commits crime in the name of their religion. They are engaged into killings, bomb blasts, suicide bombers by saying that there religion allow them to do these things and these things will land them into heaven. Therefore our pointing out their religion motivates them to commit killings and crimes. We have to stop differentiating those demons and show humanity towards every religion.
